The map shows a dense network of major highways, including Interstate 75 (I-75) running north-south and Interstate 24 (I-24) running east-west. Numerous other highways, such as KY-62, KY-64, KY-68, KY-70, KY-72, KY-74, KY-76, KY-78, KY-80, KY-82, KY-84, KY-86, KY-88, KY-90, KY-92, KY-94, KY-96, KY-98, and KY-100, are also depicted. The map also shows the railroad system, with major lines like the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and the Kentucky Railway Express Company. The map includes labels for various cities and towns, such as Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort, Nicholasville, and Owensboro. The map also shows the locations of several major airports, including Louisville Muhammad Ali International Airport, Lexington Bowman Field, and Frankfort Bowman Field. The map is titled "Campbellsville Labor Market Area" and "With MAJOR HIGHWAYS & RAILROAD SYSTEM". A legend indicates that the shaded area denotes the Labor Market Area.

CAMPBELLSVILLE, KENTUCKY - A RESOURCE PROFILE

Campbellsville, the county seat of Taylor County, is the home of Campbellsville College. Campbellsville, with a population of 8,715 in 1980, is located 82 miles southwest of Lexington, Kentucky; 85 miles southeast of Louisville, Kentucky; 150 miles northeast of Nashville, Tennessee; and 191 miles northwest of Knoxville, Tennessee.

Taylor County, with a 1980 population of 21,178, has a land area of 270 square miles.

The Economic Framework

The total number of Taylor County residents employed in 1982 averaged 9,850, with nonagricultural jobs accounting for 9,020 workers. Manufacturing employers in the county reported 4,760 workers; wholesale and retail trade 1,340; state and local government 860; and services 560. Manufacturing employment is greatest in textile mill products and apparel and related products.

Per capita income in Taylor County in 1981 was $7,221. Between 1977 and 1981, per capita income increased by 49 percent.

The Campbellsville labor market area includes Taylor County and its five surrounding counties. The total number of residents of the labor market area employed in 1982 averaged 39,800, with nonagricultural jobs accounting for 34,340 workers. Manufacturing employers in the area reported 8,450 workers; wholesale and retail trade 3,660; state and local government 3,010; and services 2,060.

Resources for Growth

1. Labor Supply - There is a current estimated labor supply of 4,850 men and 4,190 women available for industrial jobs in the labor market area. In addition, from 1984 through 1988, 3,980 young men and 3,930 young women will become 18 years of age and potentially available for work.

2. Transportation - The Seaboard System Railroad provides rail service to Campbellsville. Campbellsville is served directly by U.S. 68 and Kentucky Highway 55, both "AAA" rated trucking highways. In addition, Campbellsville is located only 20 miles north of the Cumberland Parkway, 39 miles east of Interstate 65, and 43 miles south of the Bluegrass Parkway. Eleven common carriers have authority to serve Campbellsville. The nearest commercial airports are Blue Grass Field in Lexington, 77 miles northeast, and Standiford Field in Louisville, 80 miles northwest. The Taylor County Airport, 1 mile northeast of Campbellsville, has a 4,000-foot paved runway and offers charter service.

3. Power and Fuel - Electric power is provided to Campbellsville and parts of Taylor County by the Kentucky Utilities Company, an electric generation and transmission company. Taylor County is also provided power by the Taylor County Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, which is supplied by the East Kentucky Power Cooperative. Campbellsville is provided natural gas service by the Western Kentucky Gas Company, which is supplied by Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company. Three distributors of propane and six distributors of fuel oil serve Campbellsville.

4. Education - Primary and secondary education is provided to Campbellsville and Taylor County by the Campbellsville Independent School System and the Taylor County School System, which are both accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Campbellsville College is a coeducational, four-year, Christian-centered, liberal arts and science college. The college confers Associate and Bachelor degree programs. The 1983 Fall enrollment was 701 students. In addition, one senior college, one community college, and two junior colleges are located within 55 miles of Campbellsville.

The Elizabethtown State Vocational-Technical School in Elizabethtown, 42 miles northwest, offers training in 13 courses, with 9 courses to be added to the curriculum in August 1984. The Green County Area Vocational Education Center in Greensburg, 11 miles southwest, offers training in 10 different courses.

Occupational wage rates for specific industries are usually not available to most government agencies, and wage data furnished to state employment agencies by individual industrial employers are protected from disclosure by federal law. The most reliable up-to-date wage information can be obtained by direct contact with local employers.

Associated Industries of Kentucky, a voluntary organization of Kentucky businesses, regularly collects occupational wage rates and fringe benefits data from participating member firms. Data are compiled for over 127 clearly defined office, production, and service occupations. Tabulations are published for nine geographical areas of Kentucky, as shown on the map below. It should be noted that the data may be weighted by the preponderance of firms in the larger cities and may be somewhat higher than the rates paid in the smaller communities. Data from these tabulations are available, upon request, from the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Kentucky school districts levy property taxes on property located within individual school district boundaries. Two types of school districts are operated in Kentucky: 1) independent school districts which usually operate within a single city and often do not cover the entire city; and 2) common school districts which operate in portions of counties not covered by independent districts and cover the entire county when there is no independent district. School district boundaries are mutually exclusive and do not cross.
